Big 4 Military Chiefs Meet For New Berlin Talk; Reds Raid U. S. Liaison Offices

BERLIN, Sept. 7—The four military governors of Germany met again today amid reports their negotiations may break down as a result of Communist riots and violation of U. S. Army property in Berlin.

The American, British, French and Soviet governors reconvened at the Allied Control Authority building about mid-morning (EST).

Informed sources said that Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the U. S. military governor, is incensed by the action of Soviet troops yesterday in smashing the door of the U. S. Army liaison office in Berlin's city hall.

The Soviets forcibly removed 19 west-sector German policemen who sought refuge there.

The Russian troops also were reported to have gone through the Army's files, without removing anything.

THESE sources said that Clay will demand an explanation of the incident from Marshal Vassili Sokolovsky, the Russian military governor, at today's Big Four meeting.

Meanwhile, a number of German west-sector policemen—variously reported at from 20 to 26—were still besieged in the city hall.

Military government sources pointed out that while Big Four talks were being held ostensibly to renew four-power control over Berlin, the Communists, with obvious Soviet backing, are continuing their drive to bring the city under Russian rule.

Paul Markgraf, the Soviet-sponsored chief of eastern sector police, is holding 61 west-sector policemen arrested yesterday when they tried to protect a scheduled meeting of the city assembly.

The assembly was forced to move from the city hall, in the Soviet sector, to the British sector when Communist-led rioters broke in and occupied the meeting chamber.

In another Soviet unilateral action, Wilhelm Kreikemeier, chief of the Russian-controlled Berlin railway, announced that he is prohibiting the sale of western-licensed publications on station platforms in the eastern sectors.

British and French police supplied the police besieged in the city hall with food. Sixteen of the police are in British liaison offices and 10 are in the French offices.

A Reuters correspondent inside the Berlin city hall declared in a telephoned dispatch that 20 other west-sector police have locked themselves in the American liaison offices to avoid arrest by the Russians.

Murder Count Faces Daytonian

POUCE-COUPPE, B.C., Sept. 7—Gustave Wiegner, 24, of Dayton, O., confessed slayer of John A. McComas, 52, formerly of Dayton, is to be arraigned here today on a murder charge.

Wiegner has maintained ever since his arrest on another shooting charge at Kimball, Neb., two weeks ago that he had accidentally shot McComas while they were hunting squirrels near Blueberry, B.C., on the Alaska highway.

The slain man's daughter, 13-year-old Helen Louise McComas, substantiated Wiegner's contention that the shooting was accidental, and told the jurors that she and Wiegner had fled in terror after the slaying.

'NEW NAMES' ON LIST

Atom Expert To Get Call In Spy Probe Hearings

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—The House Un-American Activities Committee decided today to call more than a score of witnesses including Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, former atomic bomb project chief, for the next phase of its Communist investigation.

Rep. Thomas, (R) N. J., committee chairman, announced that "subpoenas are being served today on 20 to 25 witnesses" who will be called into closed hearings starting tomorrow morning.

Thomas declined to answer the charges of a group of eight atomic scientists who said that the current spy hearings are making it difficult to keep atomic scientists on the job.

Groves already has talked to the House committee in closed session. But he also will be a major witness when the committee's public hearings resume Sept. 15.

Thomas made his announcement on this week's "planning" sessions after a closed meeting with two other subcommittee members and most of the group's investigating staff. The chairman said that the questioning of witnesses behind closed doors will continue "all day every day this week."

THOMAS said that many of the witnesses being called are "new names" in the committee's inquiry. He said "they all have to do with the public hear-

Man, 88, Killed While Walking

One man was killed and six others injured in traffic accidents scattered throughout Pickaway County over the Labor Day weekend extending into Tuesday morning.

The death of Mathias Teets, 88, of Williamsport at 10:15 a. m. Sunday brought this county's total traffic deaths to 19 since the beginning of this year.

Over Ohio, 25 persons met violent deaths surging this state's total ahead of all others. Highway mishaps resulted in 18 deaths, four died in plane crashes and three died of other causes. North Carolina was second with 23 dead—10 from traffic accidents.

The six persons injured in Pickaway County automobile collisions and treated in Berger hospital were:

Richard Rosenberger, 39, of Columbus; Mrs. Stella Holbrook, 63, and Mrs. Gladys Holbrook, 29, both of Ercole, Mich. These three were taken to the hospital Tuesday morning following a two-car collision on Route 104.

OTHERS were George Brandt Jr., 3, of Dayton; Lewis White, 27, of 620 South Pickaway street; and White's 23-year-old wife.

Mr. Teets was killed when a car driven by George W. Brandt, 31, of Dayton, skidded into a bridge on Route 22, six miles east of Circleville, bounced off a steel girder and knocked Teets into a ditch.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff said Teets was walking east. Brandt reportedly was following a tractor driven by Ralph Francis of Williamsport and another car.

Brandt told county officers the first car attempted to pass the tractor and he was going to follow when the preceding car pulled back into the line of traffic abruptly forcing Brandt to apply his brakes.

Three-year-old Brandt Jr. suffered a fractured right arm when his father's car rammed into the bridge. Another of Brandt's sons, also riding with him, escaped injury.

Brandt said he saw Teets and attempted to miss him by steering into the bridge. He said his car was out of control.

Sheriff Radcliff declared Brandt's car skidded across the opposite lane of traffic before hitting the bridge. All vehicles and Teets were travelling in the same direction.

The victim was believed killed instantly by the impact of the car. Teets' body was found in a ditch a short distance from where he was struck.

The accident in which Rosenberger and the two Holbrook women were injured occurred at 8:30 a. m., two and one-half miles north of Fox Postoffice.

ONE CAR was driven by William A. Holbrook, 33, husband and son of the injured women and the other by Rosenberger, state highway patrolmen reported.

Holbrook reportedly was travelling north, lost control of his vehicle on a slippery curve, swung around on the wrong side of the road and collided with the Rosenberger car.

Patrolman C. E. Wells and Charles Watters arrested Holbrook for unsafe operation of his motor vehicle.

Five cars tangled at 11 p. m. Saturday and two persons were injured one-half mile south of Bell Siding on Route 23, Deputy Sheriff Vern L. Pontius reported.

He said a truck blew out a rear tire and blocked the southbound traffic lane. The driver, whose name was not reported, placed flares on the road and summoned state patrolmen and sheriff's deputies.

In the tieup, Edward Schuemaker, 21, of Groveport, stopped his car behind the truck. Meanwhile, Henry Thomas, 22, of Circleville plowed into the rear of Schuemaker's car and the

STASSEN TO MEND FENCES

Truman Confident Labor Vote Going To Democrats

TOLEDO, Sept. 7—President Truman headed for Washington today, confident that he had swung the nation's key labor vote into his column after a whirlwind Labor Day campaign in the industrial state of Michigan.

The chief executive deliberately chose Michigan, the state that produces most of the nation's motor cars and many other industrial products, for the sendoff of his bid for reelection.

It was the labor vote which, as much as any other factor, determined the outcome of the four successive Democratic administrations.

Mr. Truman made six speeches during the day in Michigan. He began early in the morning, as is his custom and carried on at a breakneck speed through the day.

He spoke at Grand Rapids, Lansing, Detroit, Hamtramck, Pontiac and Flint, all great centers of the huge industry that puts the nation on wheels.

LATE AT night the President stopped here in Toledo for his seventh campaign speech of the day. He told 5,000 persons at the railroad station that the Taft-Hartley Act was just the opening gong of the Republican Party to turn the country back to big business. He added:

"This may be the end of Labor Day, but I am just beginning the greatest campaign I have ever made."

The President left Michigan well pleased with the opening of a campaign that during the next two months up to Election Day is expected to become one of the most strenuous presidential election bids a candidate has launched in many years.

Mr. Truman was accorded a tremendous welcome at all the points where he stopped. Hundreds of thousands turned out to give him a welcome that appeared to onlookers to be both warm and sincere.

The President's campaign theme was not new. He had set the pace on his western trip prior to the Democratic convention and in his convention acceptance speech at Philadelphia.

It was the theme that will be carried through the campaign, a relentless attack on the Republican-controlled 80th Congress.

Meanwhile in Detroit Harold E. Stassen got an early start on his assigned task of mending any GOP fences President Truman may have damaged during his tour.

The recently appointed University of Pennsylvania president landed at Willow Run airport yesterday afternoon before the President's special train had left the state.

Stassen will speak from the Masonic Temple here at 9 p. m. tonight. The Masonic auditorium seats only 3,000, but amplifiers will carry the former Minnesota governor's speech to an expected crowd of 10,000 in Cass Park.

Gotham Trucker Strike Pinching City Tighter

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—New York's industrial and business life—dependent heavily on trucking transportation—suffered acutely today as the first week of the citywide truck strike neared an end.

Jobs of some 1,800,000 workers, in industries affected by the paralyzing walkout, became of increasing concern.

WITH NO immediate prospect of settlement in sight, employers may have to lay them off by the thousands.

As the strike entered its seventh day, the milk situation worsened.

Many of the city's chain stores began the shortened week today with almost a complete lack of perishable foods. Other stocks were thinned out badly. Independent stores still were getting deliveries.

A halt in all types of constructions—with building materials almost exhausted—was predicted by the week's end.

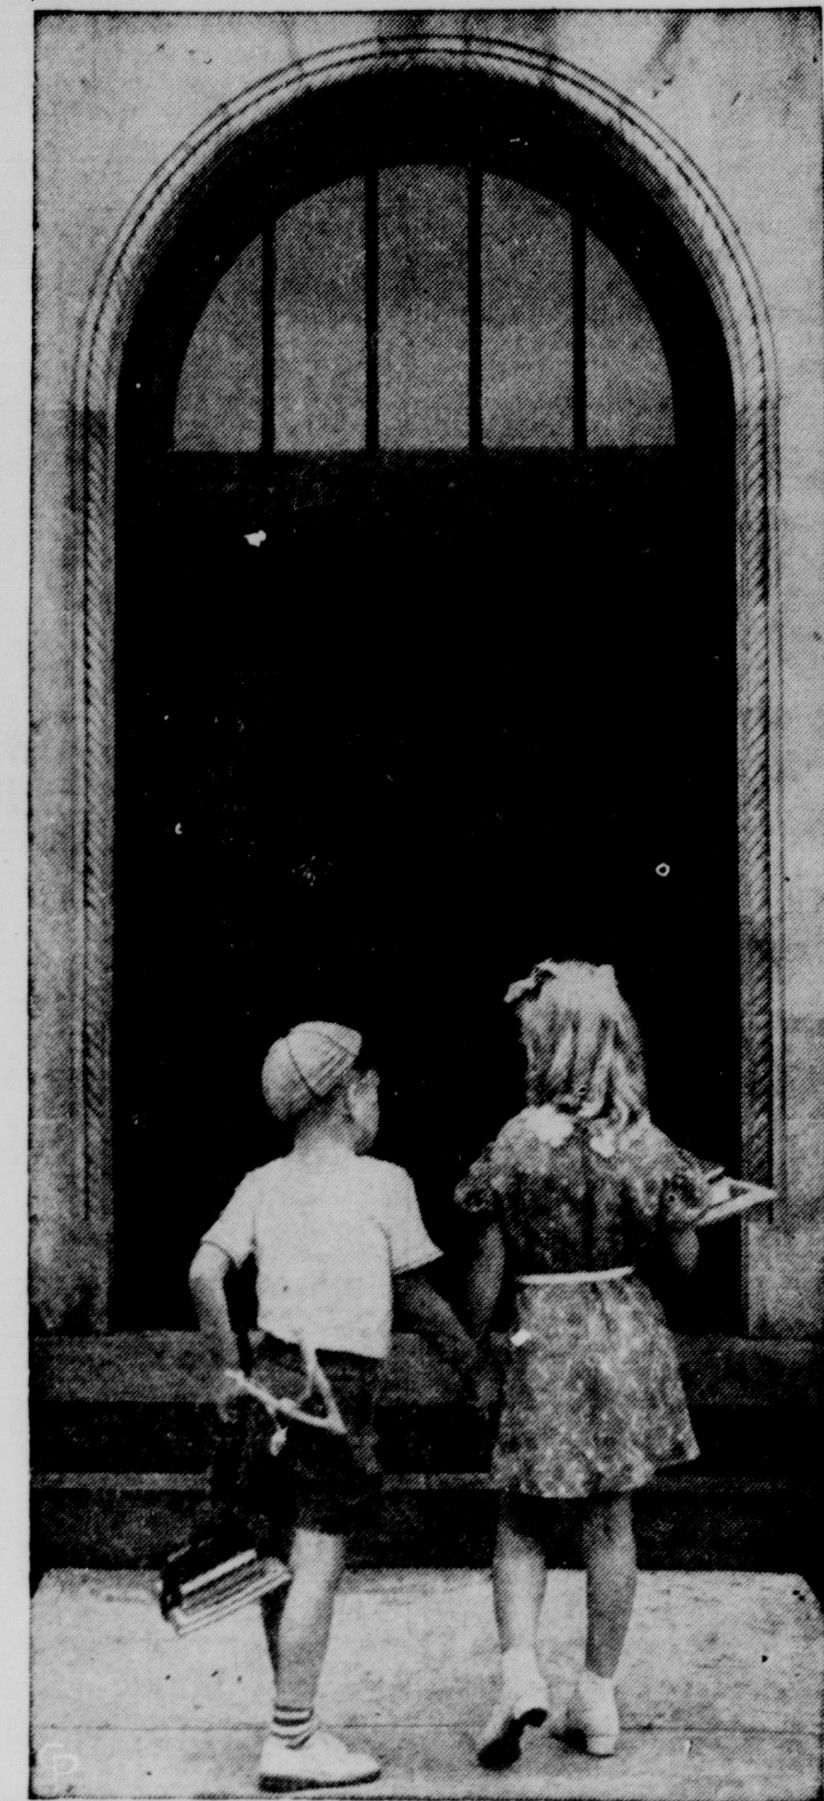

Christ's Crown Thorn Stolen

ROME, Sept. 7—Italian police investigated today the mysterious theft of one of the most valuable relics of the Catholic church—a thorn from Christ's crown.

The relic was stolen from the castle of Prince Virgilio Orsini. It was given to one of the prince's ancestors, Prince Domenico Orsini, more than two hundred years ago by Pope Benedict XIII for safekeeping.

Between the king and queen is Princess Margarete. Princess Irene is hidden behind Beatrix.

TWO AMERICAN youngsters among an estimated 25 million, this pair is off for school. And it's a long, long time until Summer. Youth like them were resuming studies Tuesday in this area as Pickaway County's schools reopened. Circleville's classes will follow suit Thursday.

HEAR THOSE MOANS?

Ah, What A Happy Day!! Schools Opened Again

Moans and groans of several hundred youngsters, who have just enjoyed about three months of vacation, were heard Tuesday in Pickaway County's rural schools.

All county schools except one were scheduled to hold brief sessions Tuesday with real schedules opening up Wednesday. The one exception is Washington Township elementary school whose doors will not swing open until Thursday morning.

That also is the day when Circleville city schools are to resume operations.

Meanwhile, the county health commissioner and the health nurse eyed a stiff physical examination schedule slated to begin Wednesday.

Dr. A. D. Blackburn, the commissioner, said Tuesday he and Mrs. Helen Pickens, health nurse, would begin checking health conditions at the various schools Wednesday.

THE FIRST day of the schedule seems to be about the fullest, according to the doctor. He said he and Mrs. Pickens were to make a general inspection of all students Wednesday to make sure none had brought communicable diseases to school with him and to make an inspection of buildings to see that they are sanitary.

A sample of the school's drinking supply will be tested on the first trip and a student questionnaire, to be filled out by parents, will be distributed.

Blackburn said his schedule permitted him to schedule immunizations for all children who have not previously had such treatment. Parents consent is to be given with the student questionnaire.

The second trip by the doctor and nurse will consist of immunizing all students who have their parents' consent.

A third trip by the two health officials will consist of physical examinations, given to all first graders and new students. Special examinations will be given to students who are to participate in school athletics.

Fires Menace Maine Towns

THOMASTON, Me., Sept. 7—Forest fires menaced the towns of Union and Appleton today and 1800 residents have been alerted for possible evacuation.

An estimated 800 firemen and volunteers are battling to control the raging fire, which already has burned over five square miles of timberland between Thomaston and Rockland.

Wallace Given Mixed Reception By Union Leftists

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—Henry A. Wallace is on record today with the charge that top leaders of the AFL and CIO are following a "policy of appeasement" in backing President Truman.

The candidate of the Progressive Party lashed out at both the domestic and foreign policies of the Truman administration in a speech before the convention of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO).

His appearance before the largest left-wing dominated labor union within the ranks of the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) ran into a mixed reception.

Neutral observers estimated that nearly half of the 1,000 convention delegates sat in their chairs and booed as the former vice-president made his bid for rank-and-file labor support.

However, the crowd of 600 gallery spectators stood up and cheered in an effort to drown out the undercurrent of boos.

Albert J. Fitzgerald, president of the union, and chairman of the National Labor Committee for Wallace, emphasized that Wallace's appearance at the convention was not to be viewed as a sign of official endorsement of his candidacy by the union.

Thomas car in turn was rammed from the rear by James Peters, 21, of 160 East Mound street.

While Deputies Pontious, Carl Radcliff and highway patrolmen directed traffic past the truck in the open northbound lane of traffic two other cars collided.

Pontious said he directed White into the lane when the officers at the other end of traffic attempted to halt the second car driven by Wilbert A. Brown, 55, of Columbus.

WHITE stopped his car, Pontious said, and Brown continued ahead at 45 miles per hour and plowed headon into White's stopped vehicle.

Deputy Pontious was forced to jump from the path of Brown's car and suffered shoulder and head bruises when he landed on the curb.

White and his wife suffered chest and back injuries and numerous bruises. Brown was haled before Magistrate Oscar Root and fined $200 and costs for driving under the influence of alcohol.

Brown also was cited for disregarding an officer, disregarding a traffic signal and failing to observe the right of way.

No one was injured when two cars collided at 11:30 p. m. Monday, one-half mile south of Bell Siding, the second accident there in two days.

The wreck involved a Commercial Motor Freight truck driven by Mac McCormick, 47, of Columbus, and a car operated by Paul Allen, 41, of Pontiac, Mich.

Two drivers escaped injury Saturday afternoon one mile east of Circleville on Route 22, the sheriff's office reported.

A car operated by Mrs. Glen Rader, 44, of near Ashville, reportedly pulled onto the highway from a sideroad into the path of another auto driven by Robert Lustin, 21, also of near Ashville, Deputy Pontious said.

FUNERAL services for Mr. Teets were to have been held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in the C. E. Hill funeral home in Williamsport with the Rev. Hubert Taylor officiating. Burial was to be made in Spring Lawn cemetery, Chillicothe.

Mr. Teets was born in Hocking County in 1860 and married Dora Westbury who preceded him in death in 1943.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Pearl Morris of Clarksburg, Mrs. Ida Jones of Columbus and Mrs. Dora Speakman of Williamsport; and four sons, Albert Teets of Williamsport, William Teets of Frankfort, Robert Teets of Grove City, and John Teets of Deercreek Township.

Oil Strike Accord Seen In Offing

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—The first glimmer of hope for a settlement of California's three-day-old oil strike arose today.

Officials of the CIO Oil Workers union and the Shell Company were to begin peace talks here today.

Shell is one of seven major petroleum concerns struck by 15,000 employees last Saturday. The state conciliation service expressed hope the other six companies would sit down with union representatives shortly.

6 Injured In Holiday Accidents

Thomas car in turn was rammed from the rear by James Peters, 21, of 160 East Mound street.

While Deputies Pontious, Carl Radcliff and highway patrolmen directed traffic past the truck in the open northbound lane of traffic two other cars collided.

Pontious said he directed White into the lane when the officers at the other end of traffic attempted to halt the second car driven by Wilbert A. Brown, 35, of Columbus.

WHITE stopped his car. Pontious said, and Brown continued ahead at 45 miles per hour and plowed head-on into White's stopped vehicle.

Deputy Pontious was forced to jump from the path of Brown's car and suffered shoulder and head bruises when he landed on the curb.

White and his wife suffered chest and back injuries and numerous bruises. Brown was haled before Magistrate Oscar Root and fined $200 and costs for driving when under the influence of alcohol.

Brown also was cited for disregarding an officer, disregarding a traffic signal and failing to observe the right of way.

No one was injured when two cars collided at 11:30 p. m. Monday, one-half mile south of Bell Siding, the second accident there in two days.

The wreck involved a Commercial Motor Freight truck driven by Mac McCormick, 47, of Columbus, and a car operated by Paul Allen, 41, of Portiac, Mich.

Two drivers escaped injury Saturday afternoon one mile east of Circleville on Route 22, the sheriff's office reported.

A car operated by Mrs. Glen Rader, 44, of near Ashville, reportedly pulled onto the highway from a side road into the path of another auto driven by Robert Lustin, 21, also of near Ashville, Deputy Pontious said.

FUNERAL services for Mr. Teets were to have been held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in the C. E. Hill funeral home in Williamsport with the Rev. Hubert Taylor officiating. Burial was to be made in Spring Lawn cemetery, Chillicothe.

Mr. Teets was born in Hocking County in 1860 and married Dora Westbury who preceded him in death in 1943.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Pearl Morris of Clarksburg, Mrs. Ida Jones of Columbus and Mrs. Dora Speakman of Williamsport; and four sons, Albert Teets of Williamsport, William Teets of Frankfort, Robert Teets of Grove City, and John Teets of Deercreek Township.

Army Says Negro Gets Better Deal

Discrimination Being Overcome

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—A civilian aide to Secretary of the Army Royall has indicated that Negro troops are getting a better break in the Army than ever before.

James C. Evans, West Virginia educator, pointed out in a special report to Royall that for the first time in U. S. military history Negro draftees will be trained only at camps where "community attitudes" are favorable.

Evans—in a defense of oft-criticized Army policy—also noted that the new draft law provides that Negro selectees shall be inducted strictly by birth dates "without racial quotas."

The report made no recommendations and purported to be only a factual summary of developments.

Among other things, Evans said that the Army has ordered better recreation facilities, and instigated broader training programs for the Negro.

BUT HE indicated that much remains to be done. Evans made these points:

1. There are no standard ROTC units allotted to Negro high schools.

2. Negro officers and enlisted personnel account for more than 11 percent of the Army's total manpower, but Negro officers, alone, make up only a little more than one percent of the Army's total officer strength.

As evidence of the Negro's desire to accredit himself in the Army, Evans reported that nearly five percent of the total collegiate ROTC enrollment is Negro.

So far, the Army has announced that Negroes will receive their basic training at only four posts—Fort Knox, Ky.; Fort Riley, Kans.; Fort Ord, Calif., and Fort Dix, N. J.

Commenting on the broader training programs for Negroes, Evans said:

"Postwar, the program of the Army schools has been re-examined so as to assure not only parity in training opportunity, but also effective utilization of Negro school trained personnel."

Beauty Pageant Gets Underway

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 7.—The Atlantic City beauty pageant gets underway today with 55 girls vying for the title of "Miss America of 1948."

The contestants—gorgeous blondes, brunettes and red-heads—represent 40 states, 12 cities, Canada, Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

They begin their quest for the coveted crown Wednesday night, when one group of girls show their charm in bathing suits while others attempt to impress the judges with their talents.

Judging will continue until Saturday night when the winner is chosen.

Locker parts are dipped in paint and baked before assembly by the steel industry. Cabinet interiors also get a finishing coat of refrigerator enamel.

Vanderbilt Takes His 5th Wife

GREENWICH, Conn., Sept. 7.—Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., 50, was married to Mrs. Patricia Wallis, 28, of Los Angeles in a Greenwich hotel at one minute after midnight this morning.

The ceremony was performed at this hour to conform with Connecticut law, which requires a five-day waiting period after a marriage license is issued. Justice of the Peace John J. O'Brien officiated. The marriage was Vanderbilt's fifth and Mrs. Wallis' second.

Polio Death Stalls School

DEFIANCE, Sept. 7.—Postponement of the opening of Defiance public and parochial schools "until at least Monday" was ordered today following the death of a Defiance child from infantile paralysis.

Dr. Francis M. Lenhart, health commissioner, ordered the postponement after two-year-old Johnny Lee Beard died of polio and three other children were sent to Maumee Valley hospital in Toledo in a new outbreak of the dread disease over the Labor Day weekend.

Thompson Trophy Winner Victor Because He Sticks Out Contest

CLEVELAND, Sept. 7.—A new king reigns today in aviation. An unexpected king he was, but a king nevertheless, because Anson L. Johnson, 23-year-old veteran of the USAAF, won the 14th Thompson Trophy classic Races at Cleveland's municipal airport.

Johnson won without realizing he was winning and he won because the three fastest ships in the 300-mile, 20-lap race were forced out of competition by mechanical failures.

But he won because, remembering last year's Thompson in which four planes crashed, he flew a steady, but safe race in his P-51 Mustang that gave him $16,000 first prize and $500 in lap prizes for flying five laps at the fastest speed.

All three of the planes that were expected to set a new record for closed course races before some 75,000 spectators were forced out by mechanical failures.

Johnson averaged 383 miles an hour, 16 miles short of the Thompson record, thus losing a chance to win the Allegheny-Ludlum Award for setting a new record.

BRUCE E. Raymond picked up $8,000 second place money with an average of 365 miles an hour in a Mustang by sticking it out in a 10-plane field which saw seven starters drop out because of mechanical troubles.

The flier upon whom Lady

Luck really smiled was Wilson V. Newhall, Chicago pilot of a P-63 King Cobra. Newhall trailed the field from takeoff but wound up with $4,500 third place money merely by sticking to the finish. He averaged only 313 miles an hour.

In addition to Johnson, the new Thompson king, Herman R. Salmon became the new Goodyear champion.

He survived eliminating heats and finished in front in yesterday's final of the race for midget planes to take $7,000 in prize money at a new record of 169 miles an hour.

Two of the air racing veterans battled it out for second money in the $17,200 events. Steve Wittman, of Oshkosh, Wis., finally edged Art Chester, of Los Angeles, for second place.

The U.S. Air Force finally gave up its attempt to establish a new world's speed record when showers, clouds and air turbulence forced officers to abandon the effort by Maj. Richard L. Johnson to crack the existing mark of 650 miles an hour set by Marine Lt. Col. Marion E. Carl.

Army Says Negro Gets Better Deal

Discrimination Being Overcome

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—A civilian aide to Secretary of the Army Royall has indicated that Negro troops are getting a better break in the Army than ever before.

James C. Evans, West Virginia educator, pointed out in a special report to Royall that for the first time in U. S. military history Negro draftees will be trained only at camps where "community attitudes" are favorable.

Evans—in a defense of oft-criticized Army policy—also noted that the new draft law provides that Negro selectees shall be inducted strictly by birth dates "without racial quotas."

The report made no recommendations and purported to be only a factual summary of developments.

Among other things, Evans said that the Army has ordered better recreation facilities, and instigated broader training programs for the Negro.

BUT HE indicated that much remains to be done. Evans made these points:

1. There are no standard ROTC units allotted to Negro high schools.

2. Negro officers and enlisted personnel account for more than 11 percent of the Army's total manpower, but Negro officers, alone, make up only a little more than one percent of the Army's total officer strength.

As evidence of the Negro's desire to accredit himself in the Army, Evans reported that nearly five percent of the total collegiate ROTC enrollment is Negro.

So far, the Army has announced that Negroes will receive their basic training at only four posts—Fort Knox, Ky.; Fort Riley, Kans.; Fort Ord, Calif., and Fort Dix, N. J.

Commenting on the broader training programs for Negroes, Evans said:

"Postwar, the program of the Army schools has been re-examined so as to assure not only parity in training opportunity, but also effective utilization of Negro school trained personnel."

TRACKING HURRICANES

THERE were a few exciting days on the East Coast recently as the Weather Bureau tracked a hurricane across the Atlantic as it approached the mainland and then, at the last minute, veered away to blow itself out at sea. Almost unremembered are the days when hurricanes struck the Atlantic and Gulf coasts suddenly, with only the warning given by the heavy swells, rising wind and falling barometer.

Being able to detect a hurricane when still far out at sea, and to plot its course so as to predict with good accuracy the hour and the place where it may strike the mainland, we have found ways to reduce the damage and loss of life resulting from the storms.

The smaller but similar land storm, the tornado, continues to perplex the forecasters. They have been unable to predict its appearance, except occasionally to announce that conditions over an area are favorable to the occurrence of tornadoes, a relatively unhelpful warning. The tornado still comes with no notice but the appearance in the sky of its sinister, funnel-shaped cloud, and its movement is so swift that only rarely have persons seen it been able to send warnings ahead.

The tracking of hurricanes has been one of the spectacular contributions to safety by the meteorologists. Perhaps some day tornadoes, earthquakes and other destructive phenomena also will give up their secrets.

FLEEING CZECHS

A REPORT from Sweden states that many Czech airmen have escaped from their home country since the Soviet coup, and are swelling the ranks of Russia's opponents.

In the British Royal Air Force were many Czech flyers during the war, and 500 of their number have returned to that body. France's air corps is increased by 1,000 Czechs, and 2,000 more are preparing to join the air forces of the United States, Great Britain, and France. This report says that 25 men a day are escaping from Czechoslovakia.

These airmen are more fortunate than the average Czech, who must do the best he can where he is. He is the helpless pawn of a totalitarian regime. He can only hold on, as Czechs have always managed to do, to their ancient tradition of freedom, and hope for a better future.

Cities with poor baseball teams can console themselves with the thought that they never should attain the depths of Cleveland's National League team of 1899. That team, easily the worst in major league history, won but 20 games, losing 134 and achieving a percentage of .130. It will be many a year before any other big league team is as bad.

Inside WASHINGTON

Here's Latest Setup On Peacetime Draft To Call Up 15,000 During First Month

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Here is the latest line-up on the peacetime draft:

About 15,000 men will be called up in November when actual induction starts. The number of inductions will climb steadily until 30,000 selectees go into uniform during each 30-day period.

First to be called will be men in the 25-year age group. However, it is estimated that only about 8,000 of these will be available, although more than a million must register.

About 70,000 men from the 22-25 age group are expected to be taken. Thus, the great majority of the draftees will come from the ranks of men 19, 20 and 21 years old.

One reason draft quotas will be low in the beginning is the acute shortage of Army doctors. About 3,000 Army medics are now on duty and it is estimated that next year twice that number will be needed.

Hence, it is a good bet that young medical men can expect to face draft calls in '49.

DIXIECRAT STRENGTH—Political experts in Washington believe that the States Rights party will hurt the chances of President Truman in the November elections more than Henry Wallace's Progressive party.

When Wallace first announced he would lead the third party, observers predicted that he might cause the Democrats to lose New York, California and possibly Illinois to the Republicans.

However, the general tendency to discredit Wallace and the adverse reception received by the third party have weakened the new ticket's pulling power. Furthermore, it appears that the Republicans probably will win New York, California and Illinois even without

George E. Sokolsky's These Days

The news that Henry Wallace encountered an egg is most unhappy. They did that in Chicago to Wendell Willkie in the 1940 campaign, but generally those who have no desire to listen to a candidate stay away. That is their constitutional right.

Only certain unions in the AFL and CIO fine their members for not attending political meetings. Madison Square Garden in New York City is often filled to the rafters because it is cheaper to go to the meeting than to pay the fine. Most Americans neither enforce listening nor prevent speaking.

Wallace has outraged a great many Americans for his ruthless pursuit of personal ambition, his bitter vindictiveness, his alliance with Communists, and his support of Soviet Russia against his own country. Yet, under our free system, he has a constitutional right to do all of these things. It is more important to us to uphold our constitutional system than to suppress Wallace. They may agitate against him by asking others not to vote for him. They might even make him appear to be ridiculous as Westbrook Pegler has done by publishing the Guru letters. But when they throw eggs and tomatoes at him they break the law, and even more, they denounce the freedoms which we, and not his ally, Joe Stalin, are pledged to preserve.

We often do curious things. I hear a man denounce a radio commentator. I ask him why he listens to that particular person. I say to him that I do not listen to that commentator or to any other I dislike. I go further: I refuse to purchase the product which such men advertise. I hit the sponsor in his breadbasket. "No!" says the other fellow, "I listen to him because he makes me sore." That is a form of masochism I do not understand.

So it is with Wallace. When he took his trip across the country, with the ex-automobile thief, William Gailmore, acting as trombone and collector, thousands paid admission fees because they hated Wallace and wanted to hate him more. If they stayed away, if his halls were half-empty, they would demonstrate their opposition effectively; by going they increase the appearance of his popularity. To throw eggs at him demonstrates nothing but bad manners and a false concept of what America means. It means nothing if not freedom of speech and there must be freedom of speech for those whom we dislike as well as for those whom we like.

Wallace will defeat himself. He is so antagonistic to his own country that it takes great force of will not to become violently angry against him. When it is realized that this man permitted his Department of Agriculture to be used as a training camp for Communists, that so many who are charged with espionage started their careers with him, that he communicated directly with Stalin when his President was faced with severe trials in his negotiations with Soviet Russia—it is understandable that Americans will want to sock him.

DIET AND HEALTH

Reactions Caused By Penicillin

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

OF late, as the use of penicillin has become more general, all of us have heard a good deal about the bad reactions which seem to develop every now and then in certain patients.

It is therefore heartening to learn that, among 10,000 patients treated with this life-saving drug by three New York doctors, no permanent damage from penicillin developed, even though a number of reactions were observed.

Safest Preparation

From their use of penicillin in the treatment of syphilis in this great number of patients, Dr. Evan W. Thomas and his co-workers concluded that it is the safest preparation yet discovered for use against this disease.

The doctors noted five types of reaction to the penicillin.

Hives occurred in about two out of every 100 cases. In some instances, the hives were quite mild; in others, very severe with a great deal of swelling of the skin and severe itching. In some of these cases, there was fever up to 104 degrees. The rash appeared 6 to 12 days after the first injection of penicillin and persisted for from 4 to 6 days.

The occurrence of hives does not mean that the treatment with penicillin must be permanently discontinued. Sometimes it may be necessary to stop it for about 10 days; at the end of this time it may be resumed.

Symptoms of Disease

It was also noted that in certain patients with syphilis, some symptoms of the disease itself seemed to become worse when the penicillin treatment was given. However, this only lasted for a short time.

It was also noted that certain types of rashes occurred one or two days after treatment with the penicillin. It was thought that these rashes were due to fungus infection or ringworm and became temporarily worse, but disappeared within one to three days.

Another unusual form of skin rash was noted in some of the patients. This was a condition like hives which developed when the patient exposed his skin to sunlight. In such cases, stopping the penicillin treatment for ten days relieved the disorder and the penicillin again could be used at the end of this time.

Irritation Clears Up

Now and then, at the point where the injection of the penicillin is given, there may be some irritation or redness. However, this clears up within a short period of time.

Penicillin, of course, must be administered only under the direction of a physician. Should a reaction occur, the physician knows just what steps to take to clear it up, so that the penicillin treatment, if needed, can be resumed promptly.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Answer: The symptoms mentioned might be caused in part by anemia or low blood sugar.

A thorough study would be necessary before treatment could be advised.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO
An army of 500 persons will open Pickaway County's war bond campaign Thursday.

Princess Juanetta, widely known reader, will be at the Pickaway Country Club beef barbecue and "Fall frolic" tonight.

Onno Wilson was back in his old haunts Tuesday after being fined $25 and costs by Mayor Gordon on an intoxication charge.

TEN YEARS AGO
The Norfolk and Western Railway will be 100 years old Wednesday.

Recent dry weather has caused serious damage to the Wallace invasion.

On the other hand, the Thurmond-Wright ticket is believed to have an excellent chance of winning in Alabama, South Carolina and Mississippi. They might get even more southern states.

The payoff, the experts agree, is that the States Righters are going to be more damaging to Democratic pulling power than the Progressives.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S CAMPAIGN—President Truman is presenting to the American voters this fall a study in the paradoxical. After he entered the White House in 1945, he felt he did not want to be president.

Now he is planning one of the most strenuous election campaigns in the history of American politics.

Starting with a Labor Day speech in Detroit, he intends to cross and recross the nation, talking to hundreds of thousands of people in the big cities, the medium cities, the towns and the hamlets. He will do a lot of "off-the-cuff" speaking from the back platform of his special train.

The president will follow up his theme of hammering the record of the GOP leadership of the 80th Congress. He will appeal for labor's votes, and emphasize the Democratic pledge to repeal the Taft-Hartley law.

Thus the voters will see a man who thought the heavens had fallen on him when he went to the White House and didn't like it, fighting an all-out battle to stay there.

ALASKA DEFENSES—A worried military establishment is finally coming to the conclusion that unless something is done to push a rail link from the United States through Canada and into Alaska, the Army Air Force might as well pull out.

Drastic as this may seem, the Army only this summer got a bitter taste of the transport problems faced in the Arctic circles.

Earlier this year some 2,000 combat troops were sent to Alaska for training and maneuvers in the area forming the closest link between the United States and Russia.

These troops are now being withdrawn because there is no housing for them and no way in which to adequately keep supplies going to them.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN

PUSHING ASIDE some papers with a fretful, almost weary gesture, Jeremy Cloade said:

"But you wanted to see me?"

"I was going to ask you, Mr. Cloade, if you are really quite certain your brother did not leave a will?" answered Poirot. "A will made subsequent to his marriage, I mean?"

Jeremy looked surprised.

"I don't think there's ever been any idea of such a thing. He certainly didn't make one before leaving New York."

"He might have made one during the two days he was in London."

"Gone to a lawyer there?"

"Or written one out himself?"

"And got it witnessed? Witnessed by whom?"

"There were three servants in the house," Poirot reminded him. "Three servants who died the same night he did."

"Hm—yes—but if by any chance he did do what you suggest, well, the will was destroyed too."

"That is just the point. Lately a great many documents believed to have perished completely have actually been deciphered by a new process. Incinerated inside home safes, for instance, but not so destroyed that they cannot be read."

"Well, really, M. Poirot, that is a most remarkable idea of yours... Most remarkable. But I don't think—no, I really don't believe there is anything in it... As far as I know there was no safe in the house in Sheffield Terrace. Gordon kept all valuable papers etc. at the office—and there was certainly no will there."

"But one might make inquiries?" Poirot was persistent. "From the A. R. P. officials, for instance? You would authorize me to do that?"

"Oh certainly—certainly. Very kind of you to offer to undertake such a thing. But I haven't any belief whatever, I'm afraid, in your success. Still, well, it is an offer, I suppose. You—you'll be going back to London at once, then?"

Poirot's eyes narrowed. Jeremy's tone had been unmistakably eager. Going back to London... Did they all want him out of the way?

Before he could answer, the door opened and Frances Cloade came in.

Poirot was struck by two things. First, by the fact that she looked shockingly ill. Secondly by her very strong resemblance to the photograph of her father.

"M. Hercule Poirot has come to see us, my dear," said Jeremy, rather unnecessarily.

She shook hands with him and Jeremy Cloade immediately outlined to her Poirot's suggestion about a will.

Frances looked doubtful.

"It seems a very outside chance."

"M. Poirot is going up to London and will very kindly make inquiries."

"Major Porter, I understand, was an Air Raid Warden in that district," said Poirot.

A curious expression passed over Mrs. Cloade's face. She said: "Who is Major Porter?"

Poirot shrugged his shoulders. "A retired Army Officer, living on his pension."

"He really was in Africa?"

Poirot looked at her curiously. "Certainly, Madame. Why not?"

She said almost absently, "I don't know. He puzzles me."

"Yes, Mrs. Cloade," said Poirot, "I can understand that."

She looked sharply at him. An expression almost of fear came into her eyes.

Turning to her husband, she said: "Jeremy, I really feel very distressed about Rosaleen. She is all alone at Furrowbank and she must be frightfully upset over David's arrest. Would you object if I asked her to come here and stay?"

"Do you really think that is advisable, my dear?" Jeremy sounded doubtful.

"Oh—advisable? I don't know! But one is human. She is such a helpless creature."

"I rather doubt if she will accept."

"I can at any rate make the offer."

The lawyer said quietly: "Do so if it will make you feel happier."

"Happier?"

The word came out with a strange bitterness. Then she gave a quick doubtful glance at Poirot.

Poirot murmured formally: "I will take my leave now."

She followed him into the hall.

"You are going up to London?"

"I shall go up tomorrow, for twenty-four hours at most. And then I return to the Stag—where you will find me, Madame, if you want me."

She demanded sharply: "Why should I want you?"

Poirot did not reply to the question, merely said: "I shall be at the Stag."

Later that night out of the darkness Frances Cloade spoke to her husband.

"I don't believe that man is going to London for the reason he said. I don't believe all that about Gordon's having made a will. Do you believe it, Jeremy?"

A hopeless, rather tired voice answered her.

"No, Frances. No—he's going for some other reason."

"What reason?"

"I've no idea."

Frances said, "What are we going to do, Jeremy. What are we going to do?"

"I think, Frances, there's only one thing to be done..."

Armed with the necessary credentials from Jeremy Cloade, Poirot had got the answers to his questions. They were very definite. The house was a total wreck. The site had been cleared only quite recently in preparation for rebuilding. There had been no survivors except for David Hunter and Mrs. Cloade. There had been three servants in the house, Fredrick Game, Elizabeth Game and Eileen Corrigan. All three had been killed instantly. Gordon Cloade

TRACKING HURRICANES

THERE were a few exciting days on the East Coast recently as the Weather Bureau tracked a hurricane across the Atlantic as it approached the mainland and then, at the last minute, veered away to blow itself out at sea. Almost unremembered are the days when hurricanes struck the Atlantic and Gulf coasts suddenly, with only the warning given by the heavy swells, rising wind and falling barometer. Being able to detect a hurricane when still far out at sea, and to plot its course so as to predict with good accuracy the hour and the place where it may strike the mainland, we have found ways to reduce the damage and loss of life resulting from the storms.

The smaller but similar land storm, the tornado, continues to perplex the forecasters. They have been unable to predict its appearance, except occasionally to announce that conditions over an area are favorable to the occurrence of tornadoes, a relatively unhelpful warning. The tornado still comes with no notice but the appearance in the sky of its sinister, funnel-shaped cloud, and its movement is so swift that only rarely have persons seen it been able to send warnings ahead.

The tracking of hurricanes has been one of the spectacular contributions to safety by the meteorologists. Perhaps some day tornadoes, earthquakes and other destructive phenomena also will give up their secrets.

FLEEING CZECHS

A REPORT from Sweden states that many Czech airmen have escaped from their home country since the Soviet coup, and are swelling the ranks of Russia's opponents.

In the British Royal Air Force were many Czech flyers during the war, and 500 of their number have returned to that body. France's air corps is increased by 1,000 Czechs, and 2,000 more are preparing to join the air forces of the United States, Great Britain, and France. This report says that 25 men a day are escaping from Czechoslovakia.

These airmen are more fortunate than the average Czech, who must do the best he can where he is. He is the helpless pawn of a totalitarian regime. He can only hold on, as Czechs have always managed to do, to their ancient tradition of freedom, and hope for a better future.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The news that Henry Wallace encountered an egg is most unhappy. They did that in Chicago to Wendell Willkie in the 1940 campaign, but generally those who have no desire to listen to a candidate stay away. That is their constitutional right.

Only certain unions in the AFL and CIO fine their members for not attending political meetings. Madison Square Garden in New York City is often filled to the rafters because it is cheaper to go to the meeting than to pay the fine. Most Americans neither enforce listening nor prevent speaking.

Wallace has outraged a great many Americans for his ruthless pursuit of personal ambition, his bitter vindictiveness, his alliance with Communists, and his support of Soviet Russia against his own country. Yet, under our free system, he has a constitutional right to do all of these things. It is more important to us to uphold our constitutional system than to suppress Wallace. They may agitate against him by asking others not to vote for him. They might even make him appear to be ridiculous as Westbrook Pegler has done by publishing the Guru letters. But when they throw eggs and tomatoes at him they break the law, and even more, they denounce the freedoms which we, and not his ally, Joe Stalin, are pledged to preserve.

We often do curious things. I hear a man denounce a radio commentator. I ask him why he listens to that particular person. I say to him that I do not listen to that commentator or to any other I dislike. I go further: I refuse to purchase the product which such men advertise. I hit the sponsor in his breadbasket. "No!" says the other fellow, "I listen to his because he makes me sore." That is a form of masochism I do not understand.

So it is with Wallace. When he took his trip across the country, with the ex-automobile thief, William Gailmore, acting as trombone and collector, thousands paid admission fees because they hated Wallace and wanted to hate him more. If they stayed away, if his halls were half-empty, they would demonstrate their opposition effectively; by going they increase the appearance of his popularity. To throw eggs at him demonstrates nothing but bad manners and a false concept of what America means. It means nothing if not freedom of speech and there must be freedom of speech for those whom we dislike as well as for those whom we like.

Wallace will defeat himself. He is so antagonistic to his own country that it takes great force of will not to become violently angry against him. When it is realized that this man permitted his Department of Agriculture to be used as a training camp for Communists, that so many who are charged with espionage started their careers with him, that he communicated directly with Stalin when his President was faced with severe trials in his negotiations with Soviet Russia—it is understandable that Americans will want to sock him.

Reactions Caused By Penicillin

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

OF late, as the use of penicillin has become more general, all of us have heard a good deal about the bad reactions which seem to develop every now and then in certain patients.

It is therefore heartening to learn that, among 10,000 patients treated with this life-saving drug by three New York doctors, no permanent damage from penicillin developed, even though a number of reactions were observed.

Safest Preparation

From their use of penicillin in the treatment of syphilis in this great number of patients, Dr. Evan W. Thomas and his co-workers concluded that it is the safest preparation yet discovered for use against this disease.

The doctors noted five types of reaction to the penicillin. Hives occurred in about two out of every 100 cases. In some instances, the hives were quite mild; in others, very severe with a great deal of swelling of the skin and severe itching. In some of these cases, there was fever up to 104 degrees. The rash appeared 6 to 12 days after the first injection of penicillin and persisted for from 4 to 6 days.

The occurrence of hives does not mean that the treatment with penicillin must be permanently discontinued. Sometimes it may be necessary to stop it for about 10 days; at the end of this time it may be resumed.

Symptoms of Disease

It was also noted that in certain patients with syphilis, some symptoms of the disease itself seemed to become worse when the penicillin treatment was given. However, this only lasted for a short time.

It was also noted that certain types of rashes occurred one or two days after treatment with the penicillin. It was thought that these rashes were due to fungus infection or ringworm and became temporarily worse, but disappeared within one to three days.

Another unusual form of skin rash was noted in some of the patients. This was a condition like hives which developed when the patient exposed his skin to sunlight. In such cases, stopping the penicillin treatment for ten days relieved the disorder and the penicillin again could be used at the end of this time.

Irritation Clears Up

Now and then, at the point where the injection of the penicillin is given, there may be some irritation or redness. However, this clears up within a short period of time.

Penicillin, of course, must be administered only under the direction of a physician. Should a reaction occur, the physician knows just what steps to take to clear it up, so that the penicillin treatment, if needed, can be resumed promptly.

Answer: The symptoms mentioned might be caused in part by anemia or low blood sugar.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

With Labor Day here and past, nothing can save us from the campaigners now except the pennant races.

But Mr. Truman was smart to pick Detroit for his opener—in a town 16 games out of first place who cares about baseball?

This year the team 16 games out of first place on Labor Day is the equivalent of the candidate in second place on Election Day.

In fact I hear Detroit asked for six Truman speeches in one day to take the place of the old-fashioned double-header.

Dewey's road team followed with Harold Stassen pitching. Stassen has a good disappearing ball. It breaks high, drops suddenly and disappears every four years.

But we're in for it from now on. September having an "R" in it promises nothing better than oysters, Democrats, Republicans and progressives.

"What reason?"

"I've no idea."

Frances said, "What are we going to do, Jeremy. What are we going to do?"

"I think, Frances, there's only one thing to be done. . . ."

Armed with the necessary credentials from Jeremy Cloade, Poirot had got the answers to his questions. They were very definite. The house was a total wreck. The site had been cleared only quite recently in preparation for rebuilding. There had been no survivors except for David Hunter and Mrs. Cloade. There had been three servants in the house, Frederick Game, Elizabeth Game and Eileen Corrigan. All three had been killed instantly. Gordon Cloade had been brought out alive, but had died on the way to a hospital without recovering consciousness. Poirot took the names and addresses of the three servants' next of kin. "It is possible," he said, "that they may have spoken to their friends something in the way of gossip or comment that might give me a pointer to some information I badly need."

The official to whom he was speaking looked skeptical. The Games had come from Dorset, Eileen Corrigan from County Cork. Poirot next beat his steps towards Major Porter's rooms. He remembered Porter's statement that he himself was a Warden and he wondered whether he had happened to be on duty on that particular night and whether he had seen anything of the incident in Sheffield Terrace.

He had, besides, other reasons for wanting a word with Major Porter.

As he turned the corner of Edge Street he was startled to see a policeman in uniform standing outside the particular house for which he was making.

The constable intercepted Poirot's advance.

"Can't go in here, sir," he said. "What has happened?"

"You don't live in the house, do you, sir?" Poirot shook his head.

"Who was it you were wishing to see?"

"I wished to see Major Porter." "You a friend of his, sir?"

"No, I should not describe myself as a friend. What has happened?"

"Gentleman has shot himself, I understand. Ah, here's the Inspector."

The door had opened and two figures came out. One was the local Inspector, the other Poirot recognized as Sergeant Graves from Warmley Vale. The latter recognized him and promptly made him known to the Inspector.

"Better come inside," said the latter.

The three re-entered the house. They telephoned through to Warmley Vale, Graves explained. "And Superintendent Spence sent me up."

"Suicide?"

The Inspector answered. "Yes. Seems a clear case. Don't know whether having to give evidence at the Inquest yesterday preyed upon his mind. People are funny that way sometimes, but I gather he's been depressed lately. Financial difficulties and one thing and another. Shot himself with his own revolver."

Poirot asked: "Is it permitted that I go up?"

"If you like, M. Poirot. Take M. Poirot up, Sergeant."

"Yes, sir."

Graves led the way up to the first floor room. It was much as Poirot remembered it, the dim colors of the old rugs, the books. Major Porter was in the big armchair. His attitude was almost natural, just the head slumped forward. His right arm hung down at his side—below it, on the rug, lay the revolver. There was still a very faint smell of acrid gunpowder in the air.

Here's Latest Setup On Peacetime Draft To Call Up 15,000 During First Month

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Here is the latest line-up on the peacetime draft:

About 15,000 men will be called up in November when actual induction starts. The number of inductions will climb steadily until 30,000 selectees go into uniform during each 30-day period.

First to be called will be men in the 25-year age group. However, it is estimated that only about 8,000 of these will be available, although more than a million must register.

Trinity Lutheran Church Site Of Rites

Selecting the same wedding date as did her parents 35 years ago, Miss Mildred Carolyn Fischer became the bride Saturday of Robert Dean Porter in Trinity Lutheran church.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Fischer of Circleville Route 3. Her husband is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Porter of Circleville Route 4.

Officiating for the 3:30 p. m. double ring ceremony were the Rev. G. L. Troutman, pastor of the local church, and the Rev. C. D. Fischer of Clyde, who is an uncle of the bride.

Baskets of white chrysanthemums, ferns and seven-branched candelabra were used to decorate the chancel of the church.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a formal gown of heavy ivory satin. The wedding gown featured a marquisette yoke trimmed with Venice lace, a fitted bodice and long sleeves coming to points over the hands. The full skirt extended into a cathedral train which was trimmed with Venice lace.

Her fingertip veil of sheer illusion was held in place by a tara of cluny lace, brought from England by a friend of the bride's mother.

She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and a shower arrangement of white ribbons and swansonia. The bride wore an heirloom cameo rhinestone bracelet, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Wenrick Stuckey Jr. of Bremen, attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a dusty-rose taffeta gown. A ruffle outlined a round neckline of the basque bodice while wide ruffles formed a bustle in the back and outlined the hem line of the circular skirt. She carried a semi-colonial bouquet of yellow and rust colored chrysanthemums and wore corresponding flowers in her hair.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Donald C. Patterson, sister of the bride, and Mrs. LeMar Fleagle of Columbus. Bridesmaids were Miss Marilyn Porter, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Emogene Newlon of Columbus.

Marcia Patterson of Columbus, niece of the bride, wearing a dusty-rose taffeta frock which was a replica of those worn by the adult attendants, was flower girl. She carried a small basket of chrysanthemums.

The adult attendants' gowns were of apple-green taffeta styled identically to that worn by Mrs. Stuckey. Each carried semi-colonial bouquets of pink chrysanthemums and had clusters of flowers arranged in their hair.

Richard Porter attended his brother as best man. Charles Will of Circleville; Wenrick Stuckey Jr. of Bremen, Donald C. Patterson of Columbus, and Donald Waliser of Tilton were groomsmen.

A half hour period of pre-nuptial music was presented by the Rev. E. Joseph Bash of New Lexington, Miss Olive Yarin, organist, of Hamilton and Mrs. David Hauelsen of Columbus.

Miss Yarian sang "At Dawn"; The Rev. Mr. Bash sang "Ich Liebe Die" and "Because." In a duet they sang "Oh Perfect Love." During the ceremony Mr. Bash sang "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception followed the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents. Assisting hostess were Miss Martha Hulse of Williamsport, Mrs. William Cady of Summit Station, Miss Ann Snodgrass of Groveport, Miss Margaret Minshall of Columbus, Miss Joan Belt of Orient, Mrs. James Wells of Circleville, and Miss Nell Bumgarner of Washington C. H.

Bouquets of early Fall garden flowers were used to decorate the host's home. Refreshments were served from the bride's table centered by a four-tiered wedding cake topped by the traditional miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Fischer was gowned in a teal-blue frock with a corsage of Talisman roses at her shoulder. Mrs. Porter, mother of the bridegroom, chose for the occasion a navy-blue dress and matching accessories. Her flowers were American beauty roses.

The new Mrs. Porter donned a two-piece dress of royal-blue faille with cinnamon brown accessories and the orchid from

Daughter Of Localities Married At Sunday Rites

Miss Charlotte Steinhauser of Cleveland became the bride Sunday of Hyman Winisky of Cleveland Heights at an impressive ceremony in the Seneca hotel of Columbus.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Steinhauser of West Mound street. Her husband is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Winisky of Cleveland Heights.

Rabbi Jerome Folkman of the Temple Israel, Bryden road, Columbus, officiated for nuptial vows exchanged at 2 p. m. in a palm-decorated room of the hotel.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a brown taffeta dress fashioned along princess lines with a soft rolled collar and short sleeves. Her crownless hat was made of feathers in soft shades of brown and trimmed in a corresponding veil. She used brown suede accessories.

She carried a family prayerbook of her great grandparents topped by an arrangement of Talisman roses and a shower of ribbons, and a dainty handkerchief carried by her mother at her wedding 35 years ago. At her lapel was a family sunburst pearl and diamond pin.

Miss Sara N. Steinhauser of Cleveland Heights was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a dark green taffeta frock designed along similar lines to that worn by the bride. With this she carried a corsage of yellow roses and wore a dark green velvet hat.

Irvin Smith was best man and Bud Weiser served as groomsmen. Both are from Cleveland Heights and brothers-in-law of the bridegroom.

A reception and dinner party took place in the hotel immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was centered by a large decorated wedding cake. It was flanked by bouquets of white asters and baby breath.

Mrs. Steinhauser received her guests in an orchid dress and a corsage of pink gladiolus. Mrs. Winisky, mother of the bridegroom, was dressed in pink. Her flowers were maroon gladiolus.

Among the invited guests were Miss Fannie Joseph and Sam Joseph of Circleville; Cpl. David Steinhauser, who is stationed in Florida; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Winisky, S. Zweig, Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Smith and children Elaine and Joe, Mr. and Mrs. Nate Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Weiser and children Rosalyn and Peggy, and Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Steinhauser of Cleveland.

The Misses Hattie and Rae Steinhauser of Wheeling, W. Va.; Mrs. Walter Appenheimer of Huntington, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Jacobs of Akron, and Miss Ann Goldstein of Columbus.

The bride changed to a dark green moire dressmaker suit and a sheer white blouse when the couple left on a motor trip to Philadelphia, New York City and Niagara Falls.

Upon their return from the wedding trip they will take up residence at 3146 Kensington road, Cleveland Heights.

The new Mrs. Winisky was graduated by Circleville high school. The bridegroom was graduated by a Cleveland high school. Both are employed in that city.

Lausche Unhurt In Plane Mishap

CINCINNATI, Sept. 7—Former Gov. Frank J. Lausche revealed today that he "started to pray" when an American Airlines plane encountered landing gear trouble just before landing here.

Lausche, again a candidate for the office, was one of three passengers on the plane, which made a safe landing after the trip from Cleveland.

When the pilot discovered the landing gear trouble he ordered the passengers to the rear of the plane.

The plane made a three-wheel landing with little damage and no injuries.

housewives despite the momentary setback.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics and the Federal Reserve Board joined in blaming a soaring thermometer for doing to wholesale prices and department store sales what officials have been trying to do for months.

BLS said that wholesale prices dropped one-half of one percent last week while department store sales, according to the board, were off eight percent.

IN BOTH cases, the price index had been up and there was every indication that they would continue upward.

But hot, humid city streets apparently deterred shopping sprees and retailers, anticipating a drop in sales, likewise curbed their buying.

BLS especially noted a drop in food and farm product prices and said that the weather brought lower prices for many meat products.

The Federal Reserve Board report showed some of the first declines in department store sales for many weeks—and some were highly unusual.

In Boston sales were off 29 percent, 16 in New York City, 13 percent in Richmond, Va., and Chicago, 10 in Cleveland and three in San Francisco.

All told, sales in seven cities were off and only five cities reported increases.

The preceding week sales throughout the United States had been up 12 percent.

BLS said that total wholesale prices had dropped .5 percent last week to 158.4 percent of the 1926 average, after having reached an all-time high during the seven days ending Aug. 21.

BLS said corn prices "dropped sharply" while other decreases were noted in barley, oats, rye and wheat prices.

The hot weather caused other declines in calves, hogs and lambs prices and decreases were also listed for beef, lamb and fresh pork.

Butter and cheese also were down because of "slow demand."

Pass Creek Gorge, near Arco, Idaho, is more than a mile in length and very narrow, with almost sheer walls rising 2,000 feet.

Where's the car?

There it is—and he's in it! SOME FOLKS didn't think Eugene Atkins, 650-pound young man of Ogden, Ut., could get in the midget passenger car parked at the curb. He proves he can, and he doesn't use a shoe horn. The driver is in there, too, though a bit snug for comfort. (International)

Officials Probe Scientist's Death

LA GRANGE, Ga., Sept. 7—An investigation was started today into the death of Howard Baldwin, a University of Chicago scientist who was killed when his parachute failed to open in jumping from a flaming B-29.

The plane landed safely a few minutes later, the fire under control.

Baldwin, together with other passengers and members of the crew, was ordered to jump after the fire broke out.

His body was discovered four hours later, about 10 miles west of La Grange.

Three other men who parachuted from the burning bomber landed safely. A farmer who found the scientist's body said nearly every bone in his body appeared to be broken.

Of the 93,941,000 persons eligible to vote in this year's presidential elections in the United States, 47,760,000 are women.

Washington Sets School Opener Date

Thursday Booked
As First Day

Washington Township elementary school students will attend a half-day session of classes on opening day Thursday. Classes will begin at 9 a.m. and will be dismissed at about noon.

High school students from the Washington township area again will be enrolled at Circleville high school this fall.

A full staff of teachers and maintenance workers is to greet the students on opening day.

Faculty for the ensuing year include Mrs. E. E. Porter, grades one and two-B; Mrs. Ruth Anderson, grades two-A and three; Mrs. L. A. Scranton, grades four and five; Miss Ruth Stout, grade six; Mrs. Mary Stockham, grade seven; and Oakley Leist, principal and eighth grade teacher. Mrs. Burdette Wojciak is parttime music instructor.

MRS. RALPH Betz is to be in charge of the school cafeteria again this year, and will serve the first meal Friday noon.

School bus drivers are Renus Hartsock, Frank Lands, Russell Andrews and Paul Congrove.

Walter Pickel is to be school custodian again this year.

Ashville

The Rev. O. H. Albertson, Fairmount, Nebr., and Miss Miriam Albertson, Smith College, Northampton, Mass., are visiting with the Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Albertson. The Reverends Albertson are brothers.

Members of the Ashville high graduating class of 1947 held a reunion at Buckeye Lake Sunday. Among those present were Mauna Lee Graham, Anne Shauk, Jerry Trego, Sam Tracey, Estell Lemaster, Conrad Johnson, and Jim Irwin. Dick Hudson was a guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nagley visited relatives in Wilmington over the weekend.

A family picnic dinner was held Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warner Hedges by the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Eversole and daughter, Nancy; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Orders and family; Mr. and Mrs. William Eversole; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eversole, all of Columbus; Lt. Commander and Mrs. John S. Eversole, Susan and Jennie, Longview, Massachusetts; Mr. and Mrs. William Ballars, Worthington; Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Hedges, Charles

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes
Flush Out Poisonous Waste

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging headache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

and Stephanie and Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Hedges, Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hedges, and Mr. and Mrs. Warner Hedges, Susan and David, Ashville.

Charles Hedges, Circleville, spent Sunday night and Labor Day with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hedges.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cromley transferred Friday from the Mansville hospital to White Cross hospital, Columbus, where they are making satisfactory recovery.

Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Hedges and Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Hedges and family, Circleville, were Monday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hedges.

In the Idaho State Historical society museum at Boise, are displayed fragments of a petrified fern which grew 75 million years ago.

Parker Hearing Pomeroy Case

POMEROY, Sept. 7—The trial of Meigs County Commissioner Dan Hardinger, charged with embezzlement and use of road equipment, opened here today before visiting Judge Earl D. Parker of Waverly.

Seven others are to be tried subsequently in connection with the case.

37th Division Vets Name Heads

COLUMBUS, Sept. 7 — Members of the 37th Division Veterans Association were home today from their annual convention that ended here yesterday with the election of officers and a blast at those responsible for the "disgraceful" housing problem.

The new president is Robert A. Billups of Columbus, who succeeds Richard McCloskey of Toledo.

Other officers elected are R. S. Upsprung of Berea, vice-president; Harold O. Roth, Cincinnati, secretary; Warren D. Williams of Cleveland, treasurer; Edward M. Paul of Cleveland, Chaplain.

The trustees will be C. O. Lister of Mansfield, George Graf of Findlay, Paul A. Krill of Youngtown and A. D. Gross of Toledo.

Pearl shell production for the 1947 season in Australia amounted to 803 tons, worth about $1,500,000, or just over $1,900 a ton.

Kids Building Fire 'Engines'

MANSFIELD, Sept. 7—A new kind of soap box contest is under way in Mansfield.

A "soap box fire department" contest is being sponsored among Mansfield children to interest them in fire control during Fire Prevention Week starting Oct. 3. The Mansfield Chamber of Commerce is offering prizes for the best mock equipment mounted on wagons or other toys.

Fireman Resigns After Squabble

EAST LIVERPOOL, Sept. 7—Curiosity may have killed a cat, but according to Robert G. McCullough of East Liverpool, it killed the wrong one.

McCullough resigned yesterday as a fireman rather than comply with his superior's order to apologize to a neighborhood woman with whom he had an argument while off duty Aug. 27. The fireman said he "exchanged words" with the woman when he requested her to confine her cat in the house at night because its yowling kept his family awake.

McCullough, who had worked six months, said the "city administration is trying to run my personal life."

Is Your Maytag the Oldest in Pickaway County?
Then...

We'll Give You a NEW Maytag!

In the short time since our "Oldest Maytag Washer" contest was announced, we've been flooded with entries. But we feel sure that, somewhere in Pickaway County, there's a Maytag older than any entered to date.

Remember, the present owner of the oldest Maytag will win a brand new Maytag.

Here are the contest rules:

1. Serial numbers of all machines entered in the contest must be in our hands by 5 P. M., September 30.
2. The owner of the oldest Maytag agrees to exchange the machine for a new Maytag Washer at the time prizes are awarded.
3. Factory records of Maytag serial numbers will determine the age of washers entered in the contest. Decision of the factory as to the age of each washer entered will be final.
4. You need not be the original purchaser of the washer to win. (Many Maytags have given faithful service to several owners.)
5. Any Maytag owner is eligible, regardless of where the machine was originally purchased. (See rule 6.)
6. You must be a resident of Pickaway County to be eligible.

THERE'S STILL TIME
for you to enter your Maytag Washer in this Oldest Washer Contest. Check the serial number—then fill out the coupon below, and bring it to our store or our booth at the Fair or mail it to us, RIGHT AWAY.

Beantowners Eye 10-Cent World Series

Braves, Sox Head Leagues

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 — Restraint was cast aside in Boston today as citizens of The Hub toasted their two major league entries and gleefully eyes a 10-cent World Series.

For those Beantowners who take their baseball National League style, it was the Boston Braves in general and Warren Spahn and Johnny Sain in particular, who were causing the most rumpus.

The Braves are four games ahead of the lagging pack in the senior circuit and it was the stellar mound work of Billy Southworth's victory twins that gave distinct probability to Boston's first pennant since 1914.

The Tribe lashed the runner-up Dodgers from port and starboard sides yesterday as Spahn and Sain threw a pair of five-hits, 2 to 1 and 4 to 0 triumphs in a pivotal doubleheader.

SPAHN outlived three Dodger pitchers over 14 innings before Earl Torgeson scored Clint Conaster from first with a score-board-denting double. Joe Hatton, southpaw who was in more trouble than a six-time offender, finally surrendered the winning blow. The win was Spahn's 12th.

In the nightcap, Sain stifled Dodger bats to rack up his 18th victory. Jeff Heath's two-run triple off Harry Taylor was the deciding blow. The game was called at the end of seven innings because of darkness.

Adherents of Boston's American League club had cause for exultation as the Red Sox extended their lead to 1-1/2 games by sweeping two games from the Senators.

The Sox hung up their 22nd victory in their last 26 outings as they downed the Nats, 14 to 6 and 2 to 1.

Mel Parnell coasted home in the opener and Jack Kramer unfurled a brilliant four hitter in the second tilt to chalk up his 16th win.

Pittsburgh's surging Pirates moved into third place in the National League, a half game behind the fading Braves, by trimming St. Louis, 2 to 1 and 4 to 1.

Rookie Bob Chesnes, assisted by Ralph Kiner's two-run homer—his 28th—and six double plays (tying a major league record) won his 12th game.

Southpaw Vic Lombardi uncorked a five hit job in the second fray to win his eighth game and hand George Munger his 10th defeat.

The New York Giants swept two from Philadelphia, 4 to 3 in 13 innings and 3 to 0 in seven inning contest halted by darkness.

Chicago and Cincinnati broke even. The Reds, behind Johnny Vander Meer took the curtain raiser 3 to 1 on Hank Sauer's 30th round tripper and the Cubs won the second 6 to 2.

In the American League, Philadelphia snapped New York's nine-game winning skein by winning the finale 6 to 2 behind Joe Coleman.

The victory also ended the A's eight game losing streak, Philadelphia having dropped the first game to Vic Raschi 6 to 4. The win was Raschi's 18th.

Cleveland fell 4-1/2 games off the pace by splitting with the tailend Chicago White Sox. Chicago's Joe Haynes won the first game 3 to 1 but Bob Feller came back with a three-hitter to win 1 to 0 in seven innings.

St. Louis and Detroit split. Rookie Ted Gray racked up his fourth game without loss as the Tigers won the opener 8 to 1 and in the afterpiece the Browns outslugged the Bengals 11 to 10.

Ravenna Ready For Title Test

RAVENNA, Sept. 7 — The Akron Borden Autos lay their state softball title on the line tonight against the Ravenna VFW nine in the American Baseball Congress tournament finals.

The Ravenna club qualified for the payoff battle by blasting the Lakewood Dairymen, 15-3, in a semifinal clash last night.

The contest ended in the third inning when the VFW squad racked up eight runs. Playoff regulations state that the margin of victory in any single game cannot exceed 10 runs.

Argentine Team Borrows Time, Nags, Still Wins

CHICAGO, Sept. 7 — Home-grown polo addicts at the Oak Brook Club in suburban Hinsdale, Ill., didn't believe their eyes.

The story was that a picked collection of United States all-stars had gone down to defeat before a wild-riding quartet from the Argentine—a foursome playing not only on borrowed time, but on borrowed horses too!

The touring gentlemen from Argentina took what they could get from the Oak Brook Stables, and when the match was over with Argentina a 7-5 winner, they said graciously that they had been riding wonderful ponies.

But whatever the touring group from the Pampas has got, Long Island's swank Meadowbrook Club is marked next on its itinerary, and that bodes little good for anyone but Argentina.

Fortcoming is the U. S. national open championship at Meadowbrook, and there is always the chance that what South Africa couldn't do with Bobby Locke in the U. S. golfing open, Argentina is about to do with its four horsemen in the polo equivalent.

The Argentine triumph yesterday was something to see. In the first place, the visitors arrived late; so late, indeed, that the starting time for the match was put back. Thus the "borrowed time" aspect.

Secondly, they were mounted on ponies they'd never seen before.

Thirdly, they were opposing no less a hotshot quartet than that comprising eight-goaler Peter Perkins, Texans Billy Skidmore and Rayworth Williams, and Oak Brook's star headliner, Tom Healy.

Columbus Drops Farther Behind In AA Campaign

By International News Service

An idle day in the American Association today gave St. Paul plenty of time to think over a three-game series sweep over Minneapolis that came yesterday with a double header win, putting the Saints within spitting distance of a cinch for third place.

The Saints racked up seven homers in the two games they had no trouble taking 9-3 and 8-4. Hogie Haugstad was the winning pitcher in the morning and Dan Bankhead did the honors in the afternoon.

Columbus dropped three and a half games behind St. Paul and stayed just that far ahead of fifth place Minneapolis by dropping a double header 7-6 and 5-0 to Toledo.

Clarence Beers retired for the second time in as many days after giving up four runs in the fifth frame of the first game.

The Mudhens' Earl Reid scattered four hits in the second game, sending Charlie Stancu to the showers.

Milwaukee had a clear 9-6 victory over Kansas City in the early game, but went down protesting, 4-8, when the second game was called so both teams could make a break for the trains.

Far too late in the season, cellar-dwelling Louisville kicked the whey out of the Indianapolis champions, 6-3 and 9-1.

Leafy Oak Test Still Running

KENTON, Sept. 7.—The National Leafy Oak Coon Dog Trials continued here today despite a steady Labor Day rain that failed to hamper the 21st running of the famed sporting dog event.

Fifty-one heats were completed, but Ralph Woodward of Kenton, manager of the event estimated that the final heat would not be run before tomorrow.

Some 15,000 spectators watched the first two days' trials and saw coondogs from 22 states vie for a place in the semi-finals which precede the $1,500 Leafy Oak Stake in which the nation's top coon hound is named.

The race was marked by a disqualification, the veteran Nat Ray, driving Murat, being set back to sixth place after finishing second. Observers ruled that Murat and Ray had interfered with Katrina Volo on the pad-dock turn.

Highland Dewey Grabs Feature

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Highland Dewey, owned by Henry S. Cobb of Gardiner, Me., and driven by Stan Tweedie, made every post a marker of triumph at Roosevelt Raceway last night as he won the $2,000 Gardiner Race.

The race was marked by a disqualification, the veteran Nat Ray, driving Murat, being set back to sixth place after finishing second. Observers ruled that Murat and Ray had interfered with Katrina Volo on the pad-dock turn.

Canton Netter Cops State Title

TOLEDO, Sept. 7 — Dick MacFarlane, state tennis king from Canton, stuffed away a new title in his duffel bag today.

The Canton flash easily whipped Buck Bailey of Toledo, 6-0, 6-1, to take the men's singles crown at the Northwestern Ohio tennis tournament here yesterday.

Geraldine Lietner of Toledo upset Mrs. Marion Rafal of Akron in straight sets to snare the women's crown.

The Cleveland duo of Alex Camaylo and Paul Scheerer took the men's doubles title by defeating Bob Rau and Vic Braden of Monroe in straight sets.

Walcott Belts Sparring Mates

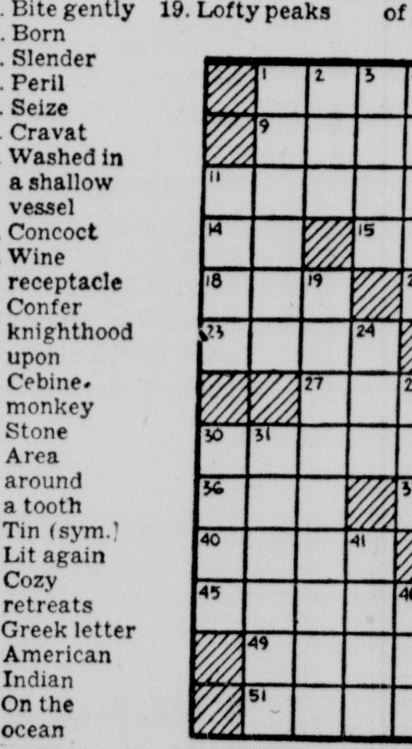

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 7.—Jersey Joe Walcott will run out of sparring partners if he continues his savagery as he drills for his Sept. 21 heavyweight bout with Gus Lesnevich.

Walcott drove Curtis Sheppard around the ring with roundhouse rights in a two-round workout after Sheppard had stung Jersey Joe with a straight left.

Walcott continued his assault against Johnny Wilson in another two-round drill. Walcott apparently was angered when Wilson really belted him with a terrific right to the mouth.

Ashville Reds Hold Second In SCO Campaign

Ashville Reds remained in second place in South Central Ohio Baseball League standings, as Ashville hurler Graves chucked a two-hit, 5-0 shutout against the Washington Eagles in Community Park Sunday.

With only one more game on the SCO league card, the Ashville's trail Chillicothe Meads by one full game, since the Chillicotheans topped Grove City 4-3 Sunday.

Ashville stands a chance of knocking up the loop lead Sunday when it travels to Chillicothe to play the Meads in the final game. Should Ashville win the fracas the teams would be tied, necessitating a playoff.

In the Ashville-Eagle tilt, Graves struck out 12 opposing batsmen while allowing but two safeties. Only two Washington players reached second base in the tilt, but neither of them hit to get on the sacks.

Ashville Shortstop Carl Gulick rapped out the longest safety of the game, good for two bases, while the Red's Catcher, Kirby, received top honors in batting by getting three singles in three trips to the platter and scoring two mates.

Following is the box score of the Sunday Ashville shutout, along with the line score of the Chillicothe-Grove City tilt and league standings:

Ohio Vets Get $136 Million In Year For Training

Fiscal Year Summary Is Detailed

Disability Rates Being Hiked

More than $136 million were spent in the state of Ohio during the past fiscal year to provide education and on-the-job training for veterans of World War II.

This was revealed Thursday by James P. Shea, Pickaway County veterans' service officer, who said Veterans Administration branch office in Columbus reported expenditures of $136,069,115 during the fiscal year ending June 30 for education and training under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (GI Bill) and the Vocational Rehabilitation Act (Public Law 16) for disabled veterans.

Tabulated in the expenditures are costs for subsistence allowances, counseling, supplies, equipment, tuition, and increased payments over pensions due to vocational training for disabled veterans.

Shea said the average yearly payment for each veteran's training was approximately $1,006. Of this figure, approximately $662 went directly to the veteran in the form of subsistence and $334 went to the educational institution.

DURING the 12-month period, the number of veterans in training in Ohio ranged from a high of 170,602 during the month of November, 1947, to a low of 86,498 in June of this year.

The number in training during the peak month of November included 123,917 in institutional training and 46,685 in on-the-job training.

Reason for the large drop in the June figure was due largely to interruptions in training during the summer months. This figure is expected to jump to approximately 135,000 in September when educational institutions open for the Fall term.

Increased rates of compensation now are being paid to veterans with service-connected disabilities which were incurred in peacetime service, Shea announced.

The increases were authorized in Public Law 876, which specifies that peacetime rates for compensation shall equal 80 percent of the comparable rates for wartime service. Under the old law, the peacetime rates averaged about 75 percent of the wartime rates.

Compensation rates are based on the percentage of disability suffered by the veteran, from 10 percent to total in degree in multiples of 10, plus additional allowances for amputations, blindness, etc. Wartime monthly rates range from $13.80 for 10

DECISION BY A SEATTLE JUDGE awarding Mrs. Irene Chambers, 29, part of her mother's estate, was a triumph against prejudice, says Staff Sgt. Frank L. Chambers, 27, of Hamilton Field, Cal. The will of the mother provided that if any of her children married someone not of the "Hebrew race," he or she would not share in the estate. The judge ruled "there is no Hebrew race." The estate of approximately $10,000 will be divided equally among three children. Sgt. Chambers poses with wife, children. (International Soundphoto)

Kaiser To Use Newark Plant

NEWARK, Sept. 7—The Henry Kaiser interests plan to open a Permanent Metals Corp. plant in the $22 million former Aluminum Co. of America factory here in about a month.

Representatives of Permanent signed 10-year lease with the War Assets Administration, which owns the plant, yesterday in Washington.

Rep. J. Harry McGregor said the firm is expected to employ about 1,200 persons. Company officials said they would spend about $3.5 million rehabilitating the plant before it opens.

percent disability to a maximum of $360. The new law raises the peacetime rate for 10 percent disability from $10.35 to $11.04, and the maximum from $270 to $288, with comparable increases throughout the scale.

Important AAA Meeting Is Called For Tuesday In Courthouse Here

An important meeting for farmers, particularly corn and soybean farmers, has been called for 8 p.m. Tuesday in Pickaway County courthouse by the Production and Marketing Association, or AAA, and sponsored by state, district, county and local committeemen.

The announced purpose of the meeting is to discuss the present trend of agriculture, particularly with reference to the future of grain marketing, and stressing the marketing of corn to the best advantage. John Boggs, chairman, said. Federal support prices for grain and how to proceed for best prices in this connection, will be taken up at the meeting. Farmers who will have a surplus of corn from the present crop, are particularly urged to attend the meeting so that they may arrange for the best possible price by storage, and make plans for storing on the farm to take advantage of the government support prices.

OHIO WILL have a huge amount of corn left over after feeding livestock, it is pointed out, and if this surplus is dumped upon the market at harvest time low prices are sure to result, it is stated.

Not only are farmers but business men interested in farmers' problem, and material men who supply farmers with material for granaries and other purposes, are urged to attend the meeting.

The big crop of soybeans and best plans for marketing also will be discussed at the meeting.

Netherlands Acclaims New Queen Juliana

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 7—Queen Juliana of the Netherlands reigned over Holland and its empire of 100 million persons today after a formal inauguration in Amsterdam's Nieuwe Kirke.

The 39-year-old mother of four daughters succeeded to the throne her mother, now the dowager Princess Wilhelmina, abdicated on orders of her physician. Although there were no religious rites and no formal coronation, Juliana was officially proclaimed queen amid a splendid setting of medieval pomp and circumstance.

Three-thousand guests, including leading members of Europe's royal families and foreign ambassadors, crowded the flower-bedecked church to witness the proceedings.

Heralds in blue velvet and chamberlains in medieval black and gold costumes preceded the royal party. The 200-foot route from the royal palace to the church was covered by a giant canopy of the traditional fishing nets, held aloft on poles by naval cadets. A student corps formed the guard of honor.

A fanfare of trumpets broke the silence of the church after Juliana took the oath under the constitution. Before her, symbol of her royalty, was the Dutch crown, which, according to tradition, is never worn.
